U.S. SUBS SINK 12 JAP SHIPS

WASHINGTON, May 2 (INS)—The Navy announced today that U. S. submarines operating in the Pacific have sunk one Japanese cruiser, two destroyers, and nine supply and cargo vessels. In addition to the warships the vessels destroyed were one large tanker, one large naval auxiliary, two cargo transports and five cargo vessels.

Straws in the Invasion Wind

New U. S. Carrier Force Raids Truk

LONDON, May 2 (INS)—A bold new assault by a United States Aircraft Carrier task force on the Jap bastion of Truk in the Caroline Islands of the south-central Pacific was reported today in a Tokyo communique.

EUROPE—Roaring into its 18th day the pre-invasion blasting of Nazi-held Europe today focused on railway centers and communication lines leading to Germany's vaulted west wall. Underscored on map are most important targets hit during latest operations.

The communique issued by the Imperial High Command admitted that ground installations had been damaged in the assault.

The attack, according to the broadcast version of the communique, was carried out Sunday and Monday.

Jap Air Force garrison units were said to have intercepted the task force.

It was claimed by the enemy that one aircraft carrier was heavily damaged and that 30 Allied planes were shot down.

Allied quarters did not immediately substantiate the report of the Truk assault.

The first attack by powerful units of the United States Pacific Fleet "in partial settlement of the debt" owed by Japan for the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, was carried out Feb. 16 and 17.

Carri-berne planes supported by a mighty armada of warships, the Japs lost 19 ships destroyed and 201 planes. American losses then were only 17 planes and one U. S. warship was damaged.

The Yank assault force, which later went up to the Marianas to deliver a similar attack, was under command of Rear Adm. Marc A. Mitscher.

Adm. Mitscher last was reported in command of carrier forces which covered the American invasion of Netherlands New Guinea 11 days ago.

The Truk area, 1300 miles west of the American-held Gilberts, has been blasted on several occasions since the fleet assault by land-based United States bombers.

Nazis in Slight Anzio Gain

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 2 (AP)—The Germans have thrust forward against Fifth Army positions on the Anzio beachhead and made a slight gain three miles southwest of Carro, it was announced today.

Enemy shelling also increased in the long-dormant Cassino area of the Fifth Army's main front and strong enemy patrols were driven off in that sector, headquarters said.

Spain Cuts Nazi Trade, Gets Oil

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—The State Department today announced a compromise agreement with Spain cutting Spanish wolfram shipments to the Nazis to virtual token supplies, which it was implied, may soon be blocked completely by Allied invasion forces in France. Wolfram is used to harden steel.

- Points agreed to were:
- 1.—In May and June Spain may export not more than 20 tons of the vital Tungsten ore to Germany monthly.
 - 2.—For the rest of 1944, not more than 40 tons monthly may be sent.
 - 3.—Allied-designated Axis agents are to be expelled from Spain.

Pacific War Today

The stranglehold the Allies have clamped around Japan's supply line in northern Burma is beginning to choke.

Violent Japanese attempts to break a block clamped on the Mandalay-Mitkha railroad, 65 miles south of Mogaung, have been repulsed by Allied air-borne troops. Southeast Asia headquarters said today. More than 1000 enemy have died in four lunges against the block.

The railroad is Japan's main supply line for troops on the Burma-India front. The terminus, Mitkha, is one of the immediate objectives of Lieut.-Gen. Stilwell's forces in their campaign to carve an overland supply cut-off from Ledo, India, to the old Burma road leading to China.

Adm. Mountbatten's headquarters communicated that Stilwell's jungle veterans captured a Japanese strong point west of the Mogaung river and are within 30 miles of Mogaung, an important railroad junction.

In China's Northern Honan province, Japanese were reported rushing the fortification of captured Hulao Pass and were within nine miles of Hsuehchung on the Peiping-Hankow railroad. The village of Yingshang also fell to the Japanese.

Mop-up work by Sixth Army troops around Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea, accounted for 667 dead Japs as of Sunday. Headquarters also said air units hit targets at Ambonia in the Dutch East Indies, at Manokwari in northern Dutch New Guinea, at Hansa Bay on the British New Guinea coast, at Rabaul, New Britain, and at Bougainville in the Solomons.

Renewed activity by strong Japanese patrols east of the Allied beachhead perimeter at Empress Augusta Bay, Bougainville, has been reported.

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—The Germans resumed full blast today their speculation over the western invasion with a Berlin commentator saying "shipping and troop concentrations on the British south coast indicate it's five minutes to the zero hour."

"A great majority of people questioned in interested quarters in Berlin are almost certain landing attempts on a major scale will take place in May, he said, explaining 50 per cent of persons answering a questionnaire circulated in Berlin diplomatic circles had expressed this view.

Nazi speculators thus got back on the beam after lying low yesterday—a day many of them earlier had said Gen. Eisenhower, Allied invasion commander, would pick to strike.

TITO MISSION ARRIVES

Arrival in London of a military mission from headquarters of Marshal Tito, Yugoslav Partisan leader, renewed speculation here concerning the possibility of an Allied invasion of the Balkans.

The mission, consisting of a Croat and a Slovene, arrived in London yesterday. The free Yugoslav radio, meanwhile, declared Maj. Randolph Churchill, who parachuted into Yugoslavia recently, has been touring liberated coastal territory there, establishing contacts with partisan leaders and strengthening their collaboration with the Allies.

The broadcast said the presence of the British prime minister's son was "a sign of attention and recognition accorded us by our Allies and proof of the cordial collaboration between the peoples of the liberation movement and our great allies."

A JAP'S INVASION VIEW

A Stockholm interview with a Jap described as an ex-member of the Jap embassy staff in Berlin and "the first Japanese of standing to desert to the Allies" is published by the London Daily Mail.

The Japs, identified as Prof. S. Sakimura, an economist, was quoted as saying the "opening of a second front might cause economic collapse in Germany and will certainly hasten it."

The interview, preceded by an editor's note of warning that the Jap could be an Axis "plant," said Sakimura lives in a small, bare room in Stockholm, a fugitive from Japan's Gestapo-like Dragon Society.

The man was also quoted as saying that until a year ago "surprisingly large convoys used to reach French ports from Germany from Japan, most yearly rubber. Now the Allies have stopped that traffic."

Nazis Still Make War From Rome

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—Germany still is using the environs of Rome for military purposes and the British government has made no commitments on requests the Italian capital be regarded as an open city, the foreign office informed Commons today. The statement was in reply to a question by Edgar Granville.

Wide Invasion Area Hit Again

By GLADWIN HILL

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—American Liberators bombed German installations in northern France at midday today carrying the great pre-invasion air offensive into its 18th consecutive day after 1000 or more heavy bombers assaulted enemy targets by night in France, Belgium, Italy and Germany.

Red Troops Kill 1500 Germans

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—A Soviet communique said today apparently 1500 Axis troops were slain yesterday in local fighting in Romania and old Poland. The bulletin reported no essential changes on the eastern front where the Red Army has been reported massing for a new offensive.

The communique said 600 Germans were killed north of Iasi, Romanian oil center, and a battalion of 800 to 1000 attacking Axis troops was wiped out south-east of Stanislavow.

The Germans have been reporting bitter fighting in the Stanislawow and Kowel areas. On the basis of the Nazi accounts, the fighting in the Kowel sector was raging only about four miles from the Kowel-Lwow railway.

The Berlin radio reported this morning there had been a flareup on the Murnansk front in the Arctic, where it said Soviet attacks in battalion strength had been "partially repelled" after fighting at close quarters.

Up to 750 heavy British and Canadian bombers attacked German aircraft, chemical, auto and explosive factories and rail targets on which the enemy must depend to meet invasion, the air ministry announced. The others rose from Italian bases. About 500 American planes were estimated to have made today's attack, half of them Liberators and half Thunderbolt and Mustang fighters.

Formations of Allied bombers and fighters crossed and recrossed the channel in the early afternoon, after the Liberators had returned, having encountered no German fighters and unusually little flak.

A communique identified the Liberators' target as the Pas-de-Calais area and said all planes returned.

Thunderbolt fighter-bombers, escorted by Spitfires, attacked rail yards at Tergnier and Le Mans deep in France, while the Liberators were striking French soil closer to Gen. Eisenhower's invasion masses.

Le Mans is one of the most important junctions in western France, a funnel for traffic between Paris and big western ports such as St. Nazaire and Brest.

The Fighter-bombers swept raised to 21 the number of rail objectives attacked in 24 hours, nearly as many as were hit last week.

Boy, 5, Saves 2 In Dedham Fire

Robert Dicey is only 5 and a little fellow, but he rose to heroic stature today in a frightening emergency, rescuing his 15-month-old brother, Kenneth, from their burning home in East Dedham and directing, at the same time, their 3-year-old sister, Beverly, to safety.

Before the fire in the two-family in Belknap st., finally was halted, it had swept through the upper two floors of the structure and had gone through the roof.

It also had partly overcome by smoke Mrs. Joseph L. Fiole, occupant of the first floor and wife of one of the Central station firemen who responded to the alarm, to find the blaze in his own house.

Mrs. Fiole, fleeing to the street, remembered the children on the second floor were alone, and she ran back into the building. The smoke was too heavy, however, and she was forced to retreat.

Neighbors took her into one of their homes and called Dr. Arthur W. Worthington.

Mrs. Fiole's attempt at rescuing the children by the front stairs was unnecessary, because little Bobby had kept his head in the emergency. When flames started to crackle in the upstairs living room, and smoke billowed, Bobby picked up baby Kenneth, placed little Beverly in front of him—and the three went down the back stairs and out of the house.

The father of the children, employed at a Readville war plant, was called from his work and arrived to find, he said, that his wife was not home and that the children had been left alone.

Fire Chief John B. Hartnett, estimating the damage at $1500, said it had been caused by the children playing with matches.

Mississippi Break Called an 'Explosion'

By the Associated Press
Ripping open another major levee, the flooding Mississippi river spread today over 51,000 acres behind the breached dike at Preston, Ill., while its tributary, the Illinois, continued a destructive course.

The Preston break was described by the U. S. Army district engineer's office at St. Louis as "like an explosion."

Assail F. D. Act In Ward Seizure

CHICAGO, May 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt's wartime authority to place under government control a private business claiming non-war activity was the basis for further arguments today as Montgomery Ward and Co. continued its court fight to regain possession of its federally-seized properties.

Anti-Air Tests on Cape

Air and surface craft were warned today to avoid the areas off Scorton Neck, Sandwich, and South Wellfleet, between 7 a. m. and 11 p. m. during May, when the Army will conduct practice anti-aircraft firing.

Seizure of the big mail order house, effected last week on Mr. Roosevelt's order culminating a labor dispute, was termed by Atty.-Gen. Biddle as coming within the President's power. Biddle, arguing in behalf of the governments' petition for an injunction restraining Ward company officials from interfering with federal operation of the Chicago properties, yesterday asserted the President, as commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy, has "a great constitutional reserve of power."

He asserted that the President's authority was sufficient to order the facilities placed under federal control and that "no business of any kind is immune from that power."

But Harold Smith, Ward attorney, declared that the seizure was illegal and that the Attorney General "hasn't been able to put his finger on a single statutory provision that justifies the seizure."

Smith contended that the company's properties do not fall within the definition of industries permitted to be seized under the act and argued that Congress intended the seizure power to be restricted to plants engaged in the manufacture of war materials as specified in the act.

The case probably will go to the United States Supreme Court.

Order Arrest Of Dog Witness

With a capias issued for his appearance, George H. Reynolds, of Chestnut st., Beacon Hill, general manager of the Revere Dog Track, was expected as principal witness hearing of the Hancock Racing Ass'n's suit to compel the State Racing Commission to grant it a dog racing permit.

Judge John E. Swift ordered Reynolds' arrest after Robert J. Bottomly, one of the four members of the voting trust of the Revere Racing Ass'n, Inc., denied that Thomas H. White was allowed to buy 5000 shares of stock because he was a former campaign manager for Gov. Saltonstall or because he was a former secretary of Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr.

Bottomly testified he knew of no agreement between the Revere group and Gov. Saltonstall to permit White to purchase the shares at a reduced price.

The witness said the half-price sale to White was made because "services he could render and did render."

Earlier, at hearing on the Hancock group's petition to have the racing commission revoke dates granted to the Revere, Dighton and Raynham tracks, salaries of $30,000 and $40,000 a year for a 21-day dog race meeting at Raynham were disclosed by witnesses.

Questioned by Atty. Thomas D. Lavelle, counsel for the Hancock group, Joseph M. Linsey, of York ter, Brookline, admitted he received $40,000 as general manager of the Dighton track, which held a race meet last year of only 21 days. He testified that Thomas A. Pappas, as comptroller, received $30,000, and Edward R. McCormick, of Taunton, got $20,000 "for general work as clerk."

The name of C. Desmond Wadsworth, state boxing commissioner and director of the annual B. A. A. Marathon on Patriots' Day, was then introduced into the examination by Lavelle.

Q—When did Wadsworth become an officer in the track? A—In 1941. I gave him 1500 shares of stock in return for helping me in the preliminaries of finding a track site.

Q—What salary did he get? A—$2500 a year.

Asked what Wadsworth's duties were, Linsey replied, "He attended meetings and volunteered to do anything he was asked to do."

Linsey denied on the stand that any of the insurance of his various businesses was placed with the firm with which Racing Commr. Bayard Tuckerman is connected.

Bomb Victims See 'Churchill Homes'

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—Bombed-out Britons, for whom postwar housing is a vital subject, got their first look today at the pre-fabricated houses Prime Minister Churchill has been talking about.

Five tons of steel and considerable quantities of aluminum, asbestos and plywood go into each of the tiny home which will house half a million families for 10 years after the war while Britain is rebuilding.

The houses are not intended to be permanent or to be sold. The government will own and license them.

Each house has a living room, two bed rooms, a kitchen, a bathroom, one door, no attic, and is proofed against moths and mice. They contain many built-in features and about $320 worth of furniture, including a refrigerator. They are centrally heated.

House Waits Vets' Aid Bill

By FRANK REILLY

WASHINGTON, May 2—After months of painstaking preparation, marked by interruptions and delays, the eagerly awaited "G-I bill of rights" was scheduled to receive the formal approval of the House veterans' affairs committee today and immediately thereafter to be reported out of committee to the floor of the House.

Chairman John E. Rankin of the House committee, whose deliberate study of certain parts of the legislation had led supporters to fear action on the measure would be stalled indefinitely, sent a personal message to American Legion officers that the bill could be expected to reach the floor by this noon.

URGE ACTION

In giving the bill their blessing, members of the House committee also recommended that the full membership of the lower branch of Congress take prompt action. The bill has already been passed, unanimously, by the Senate.

Because the House committee has made some minor changes in the bill, it will be sent to a conference committee so that the House and Senate will receive versions exactly alike. This technicality is not expected to delay passage, however.

The outlook for final enactment of the rehabilitation program at an early date is "extremely promising," National Comdr. Warren H. Atherton of the American Legion told the national executive committee.

HAIL HEARST AID

Word of the bill's progress came shortly after the executive committee unanimously passed a resolution expressing its appreciation of the "invaluable and outstanding co-operation and the unselfish contribution" that the Hearst newspapers have given in the fight for enactment of the measure.

One of the House war veterans' committee members credited with speeding the bill to the floor is Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, congresswoman from Lowell. She revealed that the committee increased the amounts of loans available to discharged service men for the purchase of homes or farms.

Bill Fixes Quick Pay As War Work Ends

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—The Senate received from its military committee today a bill to guarantee "businessmen shall be paid speedily the fair compensation which is due them" when their war contracts are terminated.

Britain O. K.'s Red-Czech Pact

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—The British government announced today it had approved a Russian-Czech agreement for the administration of liberated Czechoslovakian territory and at the same time disclosed Britain and the United States had drafted pacts similar in principle with the exile governments of Norway, Belgium and Holland.

The Russian-Czech agreement, previously approved by the United States, provided for the civil administration of liberated territory to be turned over to Czech authorities as rapidly as consistent with military requirements.

The measure has the support of the War and Navy Departments and business organizations.

Major points of the bill: The director of an office of contract settlement shall prescribe standards for the various government contracting agencies to settle terminated contracts.

Advance or partial payments by agencies, pending final settlement, are allowed to the extent loans do not take care of the needs of contractors whose war jobs are ended.

Contracting agencies are to give termination notices as far in advance as feasible and consistent with national security.

If the government fails to remove from the contractor's plant within 30 days all goods not to be retained, "the war contractor may remove and store such termination inventory at government's expense and risk."

The comptroller-general's functions with respect to individual settlements is to be confined to determining whether settlement payments were in accordance with the settlement and whether there was evidence of fraud.

Radar, Television Prospects Big

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Gen. J. G. Harbord, chairman of the board of the Radio Corp. of America, disclosed at the annual stockholders meeting today that through the use of radar, radio is achieving "almost unbelievable" results in navigation and collision prevention "and peacetime application of radar will contribute to the safety of all kinds of travel."

The company's scientists and those of other laboratories, he said, had been given primary credit for "decisive victory" over the German U-boats.

Regarding television prospects Gen. Harbord said:

"When this conflict is over much of the radio we knew at the time of Pearl Harbor will be old and obsolete. The trumpets which signal cease firing at the end of this war will sound the reveille for the age of television."

Navy Commends 2 in Bay State

A Salem sailor who saved a shipmate from drowning at sea, and a South Somerset youth who distinguished himself during a six-day enemy air attack on a merchant ship, were officially commended today by the Navy Department.

Richard John Duggan, coxswain, USNR, of Fort Ave., Salem, was cited for unhesitatingly going to the aid of a comrade who was swept overboard in heavy seas from the merchant ship Talisse last Oct. 15. After reaching his shipmate, Duggan buoyed him up until a boat from their vessel pulled alongside.

Edward Perry Rego, 19, seaman 1/c, of Read st., South Somerset, was commended for remaining at his battle station day and night "helping sustain an accurate barrage of shell fire which contributed to the destruction of four German planes." He was serving as a member of an Armed Guard Unit aboard the S. S. James Woodrow during action against enemy aircraft at Salerno last Sept.

Urge Increase In City Payroll

Simultaneous proposals, made before the city council and school committee, that the $200 a year "cost of living" emergency allotment granted to all public employees in Boston a year ago be made a permanent addition to their salaries, were under consideration today.

Councilor Thomas J. Hannon, Jr., submitted the suggestion to the city council and members immediately adopted an order requesting Mayor Tobin "to declare the so-called $200 emergency allotment to be a permanent increase in salary" of all city employees and officials.

Similarly, School Committee member Michael J. Ward submitted the proposal to his colleagues, who are currently discussing the 1944 Boston school budget. While the school committee arrived at no definite conclusion, members showed unwillingness to scrap the allotment.

Report in 4 Police Officers' Cases Due

With one of the five Brighton patrolmen tried by a police board of captains on neglect of duty charges exonerated by Police Commr. Thomas F. Sullivan, a report of findings in cases of the other four was expected today.

Patrolman James McPhee was cleared on the neglect charge in connection with alleged failure of the officers to find a burglar hiding in a Brighton store.

R. I. Flier Downs 23 Nazi Planes

With 23 Nazi planes to his credit, a Woonsocket, R. I., aviator was well on his way in his race to better the record of 32 set by his flying mate, Capt. Don S. Gentile of Plaquemine, O., the American "Ace of Aces" in the European theater. The Rhode Islander is Lieut. John T. Godfrey, the flier to whom Gentile gave an autographed photo reading "Thank God for a good wing man."

The Associated Press reported today in a London dispatch that Godfrey, a Mustang pilot, chased his 17th German plane to earth when he went after three enemy aircraft who were pestering a formation of Fortresses.

In addition to his 17 planes shot down, Godfrey is credited with destroying six planes on the ground. He also has a "share credit" with other pilots in the destruction of two other planes on the ground.

Big Invasion Prayer Day

With the approach of the fateful D-Day—word of which may come at any moment, announcing that the big invasion of Europe is starting—additional Massachusetts churches are preparing to open wide their portals so that men, women and children may join in an unprecedented American home front day of prayer.

Worship places of all denominations will be opened, when news of D-Day is officially announced, so that a great mass outpouring of prayers may be made for the safety and success of America's fighting men.

Rectors of Episcopal churches are preparing services of special application, in keeping with an announcement made by Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill, at the recent annual convention of the Massachusetts Episcopal diocese.

BLESS ALLIED FORCES

Bishop Sherrill read to the delegates a telegram from Bishop Henry St. George Tucker of Virginia, presiding Episcopal bishop in the United States, urging that churches be opened and special prayers offered on D-Day, to ask God's blessing for the Allied forces and in the end an honorable peace.

Pastors of many Greater Boston churches have already announced from their pulpits that on the date of D-Day, whenever it comes, all members of their parishes or congregations will assemble at a specific hour in the afternoon or evening to join in prayer.

Catholic churches are open daily and nightly, priests of the Boston archdiocese said, and since the beginning of the war, prayers for the safety of soldiers and for peace have been said constantly. In addition, regular novenas and shrine services are held.

JOIN OTHER FAITHS

Thus, when word is received that the Yankees are storming into Hitler's fortress of Europe, devout Catholics will offer their prayers simultaneously with those of the Protestants, Jews and other faiths, under a plan being supported throughout the country by the Hearst newspapers.

Boston's historic downtown churches, although usually closed during the week, will take part in the massed prayers. Clergymen will lead the public services, or wherever a minister is unable to reach the church in time, appointed laymen will carry on.

A spokesman for the Lexington Council of Churches announced that when word of the invasion reaches that historic community, the bell on the First Parish Unitarian Church, facing the Battle Green, will be rung.

This will be a signal for the congregations of all Protestant churches in Lexington to gather at the houses of worship and offer up prayers for the success of the undertaking and also for the safety of the Allied forces.

Black Market Gas Curb Plan

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—A two-point plan for curbing the black market in gasoline was suggested today by Rep. Brown (R., Ohio).

Brown proposed:

1.—That OPA center its efforts to stamp out the black market in seeking out and prosecuting counterfeiters and the big-time criminal operators.

2.—That OPA work out with dealers and distributing organizations a co-operative plan of control of filling stations under which the industry would do most of its own policing.

"I think the OPA should lead instead of trying to drive the filling station operators," said Brown.

Cambridge Wars On Auto Violations

Cambridge police today were threatened with extra hours of duty if "flagrant abuse of traffic laws by motorists" is not halted.

This action by Chief Timothy F. Leahy followed the death of Edward McGovern, 6, son of Pvt. and Mrs. Bernard McGovern of Broadway. The boy was struck by a trailer truck Saturday while playing in front of his home. His soldier-father is en route home from Fort Riley, Kan., for the funeral.

Siamese Twin Girls Alive, But Doomed

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa., May 2 (AP)—The Siamese twin girls were still alive today, and still fighting against a death doctors say is inevitable.

The "cute little blonde girls" were isolated in the Phoenixville Hospital nursery. A nurse was with them constantly.

They were born early Sunday to Mrs. Mary Stierly, 24, whose husband, Harold, a war plant worker, was killed in a motorcycle accident two months ago.

Mrs. Stierly saw them for the first time yesterday. Their crib was wheeled into her room. Their bodies, joined at the pelvis, were hidden from her by a sheet. She saw only the heads.

"Mrs. Stierly's condition is good, but she is depressed," said Dr. J. Elmer Gotwals, chief of staff at the hospital.

"The girls are sinking. Their temperature is higher today, and their pulse rate too fast. There is no hope. At 10 o'clock last night I didn't believe they would live until morning."

Every six hours, nurses feed the girls a condensed milk formula. The larger child is fed by bottle, the smaller by medicine dropper.

It is the smaller who is expected to take her sister with her in death. Her head is two-thirds as large as her sister's, her vitality is low, and her circulatory system is bad.

The girls have a single alimentary tract and cannot be separated by surgery. When one dies, Dr. Gotwals said, the other will soon follow.

50 N. E. Girls Leave For Marine Camp 7 WAVE Officers From Bay State

By ALICE BISSELL

On the eve of invasion, 50 New England girls—many with husbands and brothers who will risk their lives on D-Day—left South Station today with solemn purpose to do their part by serving in the United States Marine Corps.

Among those leaving for boot training at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, were the wives of two Army men now in England.

Mrs. Shirley Devlin, 20, Tenry t., Saugus, said her husband urged her to give up her job in a war plant and devote her life to the service until the war is over.

Mrs. Devlin's baby brother, Leonard Gowan, 8, of Saugus, had a few thoughts on the fate of the world as he carried her suitcase to the train.

"My school principal let me off today, so that I could say goodbye to Shirley. I am to be a Marine also some day. I am going to wear a service pin for her, because she went over to help her husband come home," he said.

Mrs. Barbara Benson, 26, Main-st., Medford, wrote her husband she was a Marine.

"I was deeply moved by the way he took the news. I thought he would be surprised and might laugh, but he said he was proud of me and that the knowledge that I, too, was in the service, would bring me closer to him, now that he needed me more than ever to stand by him."

Bernice Rodman, 20, Blue Hill ave., Dorchester, is engaged to Corp. Kenneth Dolph, 20, Nightingale st., Dorchester, now in the South Pacific with the Marines.

"I just had to join the Marines because of him, and for my little nephew, 8-month-old Donald Hoffman, whose father is also in the South Pacific and has never seen his child."

"The only remark my fiance made when he heard I was off for boot training, just as he had done, was 'I hope you can take it, and I send you my blessings,'" she said.

Among others in the group were Marion Pillsbury, 20, Pleasant st., Dunstable. Her father, petty officer 1/c, gave up his civilian job last fall to join the Navy. Her brother, Edward, seaman 1/c, was wounded at Pearl Harbor and is now back in action again with another brother, Apprentice Seaman Jimmy.

Roberta Kiley, 20, East Pepperill, joined the Marines to serve with two brothers in the Army and one in the merchant marine.

Synthetic Tires 96 P. C. of Par

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Synthetic rubber passenger car tires are 96 per cent as good as the natural rubber tires they replaced, Robert S. Wilson, vice-president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., said today.

In an address prepared for the Sales Executive club, Wilson said continued research offers "almost boundless" opportunities for synthetic development.

Naples a Shambles But Lovely in Spots

By WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, JR.

Publisher, New York Journal-American

NAPLES, Italy, April 27—Naples is pretty much of a shambles.

Our bombers gave it a going over last year before we occupied it, and while our targets were docks, railroad yards, and factories only, it stands to reason that a few bombs dropped outside of the target area.

When the Germans saw they were going to have to leave town, they deliberately and methodically went about destroying the still remaining docking facilities plus the buildings they knew we could use.

For instance, the hotel where some of us are living, was just plain vandalized.

Besides setting off a big demolition bomb in the lobby, they took sledgehammers and smashed the walls of most of the rooms.

On top of this, the Germans bombed the city 16 times since last October, one attack taking place the night before I got here. That raid lasted almost an hour.

BUILDINGS SHOW SCARS

As a result, practically every building in downtown Naples shows scars, ranging from holes the size of your fist caused by shrapnel, to complete demolition.

Unquestionably some effort has been made to tidy up the place, but there is still an awful lot of rubble and loose debris lying around and the city is miserably dusty and dirty.

To get an idea of the layout of Naples, think of viewing it out in the water.

The bay is in reality, two bays, divided about midway by a ridge which rims the left half of it, and drops away to a plain in back of the docks on the right.

On the left side is the residential district, which is comparatively clean and attractive.

Clinging to the side of the semi-circular ridge which drops steeply into the water are scattered picturesque apartment houses and villas. The whole hillside is liberally sprinkled with palm trees, and umbrella-shaped pine trees.

HISTORIC CHURCHES

The wisteria grows prolifically, blooming all over the place and smelling wonderfully sweet and clean.

Sprawled around behind the harbor proper to your right, lies the main part of town.

At the foot of the ridge separating the bay, and at the water's edge, are historic structures, including the Royal Palace dating back to 1600, the beautiful church of San Francesco di Paolo, an imitation of Roman pantheon, and the Castel Nuovo, a huge stone structure with five rounded towers, built in the 11th century to house the kings of Naples.

Here, too, is the famous San Carlo Opera House which still puts on performances of famous operas every afternoon at prices ranging from 40 cents to one dollar.

Next, still reading left to right, come the docks which cover the rest of the waterfront all the way around the famous bay.

Behind the docks lie the business and shopping districts, the newer public buildings and the bank and industrial areas.

Farther sound to the right, which by now has flattened out, are the railroads, and there the town ends.

From out here, Naples is just as beautiful as it has always been. It is only when you get back on the shore that you fully appreciate that war has passed this way.

MRS. ROOSEVELT WITH A. G. GIGLIELLO (EXTREME RIGHT)

Sailor Tells of First Lady Picnic

Alfred G. Gigliello, 29, of Willard ave., Medford, fireman 1/c, U. S. Navy, has been in the service less than a year but he has picked up with Eleanor Roosevelt in Brazil and his mother has a letter from the First Lady attesting to it.

Mrs. Roosevelt arrived at Gigliello's South American station last March. The commanding officer Capt. Roper, staged a picnic luncheon for her, inviting Gigliello and several other enlisted men to sit at the same table.

The event was photographed. Several weeks ago a letter from the White House was delivered to Mrs. Catherine Gigliello at her Medford home. Mrs. Roosevelt told of meeting her son and inclosed a picnic picture.

Gigliello, who formerly lived in Webster st., East Boston, enlisted May 17, 1943. His father, Chief Petty Officer Gerald Gigliello, has been in the Navy 32 years and is stationed in New York. Another son, Jerry, is a civilian employee of the Navy.

Penicillin Story Wins Pulitzer

NEW YORK, May 2 (INS).—Paul Schoenlein, city editor of the New York Journal-American, and several of his reporters were awarded a Pulitzer prize for an outstanding example of distinguished reportorial work during 1943.

The award, a $500 check, was given for publication of a news story on Aug. 12, 1943, which resulted in saving the life of a two-year-old girl through the use of penicillin.

The Journal-American's story told in graphic detail how Schoenlein and a staff of reporters under his direction obtained, through the aid of U. S. Army authorities, enough penicillin to save the life of two-year-old Patricia Malone.

WINS PRIZE FOR NOVEL

Also announced by the committee at the Columbia School of Journalism were awards to Martin Flavin for his novel, "Journey in the Dark," and to Oscar Hammerstein, 2nd, and Richard Rodgers for their operetta "Oklahoma."

The latter award was made in place of the usual drama prize.

Henry J. Haskell, of the Kansas City, Mo., Star was awarded a $500 prize for the most distinguished editorial writing and Ernie Pyle won the award for distinguished war correspondence.

The New York Times won a gold medal for the most distinguished public service by a newspaper for its survey of the teaching of American history in New York public schools.

BEST CARTOON

The most distinguished example of a cartoonist's work was adjudged to be Clifford E. Berryman's picture "But Where Is the Boat Going?" in the Washington Evening Star.

Early L. Bunker, of the Omaha World Herald, won the award for the best photograph on the home front—a shot of a soldier with his arms around his small daughter and his wife standing beside him. The picture was entitled, "Homecoming."

Frank Filan, of the Associated Press, won the war photography award for his coverage of the invasion of Tarawa.

Other awards:

Telegraphic reporting on national affairs, Dewey L. Fleming of the Baltimore, Md., Sun.

Telegraphic reporting on international affairs, Daniel DeLuca, Associated Press.

Navy Nurse Wins Marine 'Miss Guadalcanal' Title

GUADALCANAL, May 2 (INS).—Attractive blonde Navy nurse, Ensign Jeanne Elder of Muscatine, Iowa, became the United States Marines' "Miss Guadalcanal" after the swashbuckling Leathernecks gave 38 wide-eyed girls their first ride in an assault landing craft.

Ensign Elder was selected winner of the beauty-popularity contest climaxing a picnic-dancing party given for the Navy nurses by the Amphibious Tractor Battalion.

The pleasant, smiling Iowa girl was one of 50 nurses who reported recently for duty on this once embattled island. She is five feet six inches tall, weighing between 124 and 128 pounds.

Ensign Elder, who trained at St. Lukes Hospital, Davenport, Iowa, was a student of liberal arts at the University of Iowa before entering training.

She was clad in play suit, white blouse and brown trousers, and wore a blue ribbon in her hair when she stepped out on an improvised dance floor in the Marines mess hall to receive the acclaim of officers and enlisted men.

"This is the most fun I've ever had," said Ensign Elder when Lieut. Hugh H. Bowles of the Bronx, N. Y., pinned on a streamer with "Miss Guadalcanal" printed thereon.

The young lieutenant, a holder of the Navy's Silver Star, gallantly planted a kiss of congratulations while the rest of the Marines sighed.

ARLINGTON YOUNGSTERS DANCE AT RECREATION CENTER

Arlington Youth Guidance Launched

In highly successful fashion, the first phase of recreational programs planned by the Youth Guidance Committee of Arlington has been inaugurated with opening of the Hardy Recreational Center in Lake St.

The center is for high school students and other Arlington youth up to the age of 21 and is only a beginning, according to plans of the committee, headed by Archie F. Bullock, police chief of the town.

Others on his committee are Charles H. LaDue, secretary; Lawrence Kiely, John Delay, Robert Moore and Miss Bernice H. Holmes, corresponding secretary.

For the present, the Hardy Center is open Saturday evenings, when the boys and girls enjoy dancing to their favorite orchestras, or bowl or play ping-pong. At a soft drink bar, refreshments are dispensed by the junior committee.

From time to time, however, additional attractions will be afforded, also arrangements are being made to open similar centers in other districts of the town.

The recreational center is open to any high-school or other boy and girl of high school age up to 21 years, with membership tickets obtained through the high school or the Arlington police traffic office.

Each member is entitled to one guest per evening and application for a guest ticket may be made from any of the sponsors on the evening of the particular party.

Officers of the sponsoring committee are Arthur Kimball, president; Mrs. J. Philip Power, vice-president; Clarence H. Marsh, treasurer, and Mrs. E. Everett Adams, secretary.

The other members are: Mrs. Edwin A. Barnard, Mrs. Willis E. Munroe, Frank P. Doran, Mrs. Paul Heeger, Frederick L. Bodemer, Mrs. Edward C. Lorenzen, Ralph McManus, Mrs. Frank P. Sweet, Clarence Hill, Mrs. Warren Ryan, John C. Keefe, Mrs. Luke A. Manning, William J. Stevenson, Mrs. Andrew A. Magnus, William Babson, Miss Ruth Bullock, Edwin L. Brown, Mrs. George A. Bricker Urges End of Chaos

CINCINNATI, O., May 2 (INS)—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio called for an immediate investigation of "the octopus-like executive branch" of the federal government, and liquidation of unessential boards, bureaus, and agencies to dispel what he termed "governmental chaos."

His proposals were part of a six-point program presented in an address before the American Mining Congress.

The reins of government, Bricker said, must be taken "out of the hands of arrogant bureaucrats" and pointed to the seizure of Montgomery Ward & Co. in Chicago "as an example of where bureaucracy inevitably leads."

New Deal Tested In Three Primaries

By Associated Press

The Roosevelt administration underwent a test by proxy in the Florida and Alabama Democratic senatorial primaries today. It is also figured as a side issue in voting by South Dakota Republicans.

With plenty of personalities involved, Sen. Claude Pepper, Florida Democrat, carried the New Deal banner into a five-way contest for renomination that had found his chief opponent, County Judge Ollie Edmunds of Jacksonville, hammering away at the administration's domestic policies and at their support by Pepper.

In Alabama, Sen. Hill, the Democratic whip and strong supporter of the President, fought out a challenge by James A. Simpson, Birmingham attorney, who urged the voters to reject Hill as a Roosevelt man.

A Republicanized version of the administration issue played a part in the South Dakota GOP senatorial primary, where Sen. Gurney is seeking reelection with a plea that he was one of the first to recognize the need for preparedness before this country entered the war. His opponent, Lieut.-Gov. A. C. Miller, based his appeal on the contention that Gurney followed the President too closely.

and "adopted much of the New Deal philosophy."

The support-the-President plea apparently had little effect in Maryland, where Sen. Tydings won renomination by nearly 5 to 1 over Willis R. Jones of Baltimore, his principal Democratic opponent in a five-way race.

The PRIME of LIFE Can Be Prolonged

DR. HENRY C. SHERMAN SAYS:

"A generous supply of Calcium results in better development of the young, a higher norm of adult health, and a longer life of what we may call the prime of life, the period between maturity and old age."

AM I OLD AT 40?

Old age at 40, 60, 80 or even older when the body no longer builds new cells to replace old cells is fast as they are lost. The lack of Calcium, an important element in building, causes the body to fight the onset of OLD AGE and PROLONG THE PRIME OF LIFE as it helps build new body cells.

ARE MY NAILS BRITTLE?

Calcium is an essential nutrient in the nails, bones and teeth, just as essential as it is for the soft tissues. A Calcium deficiency does not always result in the same manner in different people—some it may cause weak, soft, brittle nails that break and split easily.

Food rationing may not supply sufficient calcium says Claude Wickard, U. S. Sec. of Agriculture

Calcium is more often deficient in the diet than any other mineral. Calcium deficiency, a form of malnutrition, may be a cause of acidity, anorexia, fatigue, weak heart muscle and other effects that hasten the onset of "OLD AGE" and shorten this "PRIME OF LIFE."

DO I TIRE EASILY?

A mineral starved body tires easily. Minerals are essential for body strength, energy and vitality. Calcium is one of the most important of these constructive forces. A deficiency of Calcium in the body retains normal strength, energy and vitality, therefore tires easily.

AM I NERVOUS?

High tension and sleeplessness or ragged, jagged, jumpy nerves may be due to a Calcium deficiency which disturbs the sustained glands, causing intense irritability of the nervous system. Calcium is rich in Calcium Phosphorus and Vitamin D and B1, all in optimum proportions.

CALCIUM — PHOSPHORUS VITAMIN D — VITAMIN B1

Calcium Phosphorus and Vitamin D—all three are required together in good proportion for the body to properly absorb Calcium for building and use. Vitamin B1, so important for metabolism, is valuable in connection with Calcium, Phosphorus and Vitamin D. KAL is especially rich in these elements and furnishes them in the proportion. Add KAL to your daily diet, and how much better you feel after KAL helps you overcome a deficiency of these elements and helps you maintain a normal Calcium-Phosphorus balance.

'The Song of Bernadette'

Premiere Tomorrow Night

"The Song of Bernadette," 20th Century-Fox film adaptation of Franz Werfel's widely read book, opens tomorrow night on the Majestic screen hailed by public and critical acclaim. Now building up the longest run on Broadway, it has recently won five of Hollywood's Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences awards.

Jennifer Jones, its star and a new comer to the screen, was given the award for the best performance by an actress for 1943. Henry King won the award for the year's best direction.

Werfel, the celebrated Czechoslovakian novelist and playwright, wrote the book to make good a vow. When the Nazis invaded his country, he escaped. Pursued by the Gestapo across Europe, he went to Lourdes, France, Mecca for thousands of pilgrims from all over the world. Here the story of the famous shrine and of the devout, simply Bernadette, whose devotion to the Blessed Virgin had caused it to be built, so inspired him that Werfel pledged himself to write it if his life were spared.

Importantly cast in "Song of Bernadette" are William Eythe, Charles Bickford, Vincent Price, Lee J. Cobb, Gladys Cooper, Mary Anderson, Patricia Morison, Sig Ruman, Edith Barrett, Blanche Yurka and others. An 80-piece symphony orchestra and numerous choral groups are in the cast.

'CAREER ANGEL'

SALE OPENS

Today's special matinee of "Lovers and Friends," starring Katharine Cornell in the actress-producer's recent Broadway success, is expected to pack the Plymouth Theater as well as benefit substantially the Actors' Fund of America.

The Wilbur boxoffice is now accepting mail orders for the premiere and subsequent performances of "Career Angel," Gerard M. Murray's new play which opens here on Friday evening, May 12, with Glenn Anders and Whitford Kane in the featured roles.

Ruth White has been engaged for the role of Mary Todd Lincoln and Joan Chandler has been signed to portray Ann Rutledge in "Stovepipe Hat," the Walter Hannan-Edward Heyman-Harold Spina musical opening at the Shubert Theater Monday, May 22. Richard Kollmar's new musical, "Dream With Music," starring Vera Zorina, Ronald Graham and June Knight, is being held over a fourth week at the Shubert Theater, which means that the engagement has been extended to Saturday, May 13. Tickets are now obtainable for the added week.

'Buffalo Bill Is A-1 Western'

"Buffalo Bill," all wooly West, wide as all outdoors and wrapped up in handsome Technicolor, is currently providing plenty of action including one of the best Indians-and-white-men fights in memory for Paramount and Fenway patrons.

While not strictly factual, this alleged biography of one of the West's most colorful characters teems with red corpses and the drama of those long gone law-

Tarawa, Gilbert Islands

An Editorial Told Mostly in Pictures

Britain Lost...

...Tarawa and the Gilbert Islands to the Japs immediately after Pearl Harbor. Islands had been a British colony and protectorate since 1892. They were vital to Pacific defense—defense of America!

We Won...

...the Gilbert Islands back in the gigantic "triple" campaign aimed principally at Tarawa atoll, where the Japanese had set up tough defenses, including British guns captured at Singapore.

We Lost...

...1,026 dead and 2,557 wounded in the terrible 72 hours of fighting on bloody Betio Island, Tarawa. Japs lost 4,000, but it was the costliest victory per square yard in history of U. S. Marine Corps.

Britain Won...

...the Gilberts back again when British governing authorities (Lt. Col. E. J. C. Finny, left, and Capt. R. D. Marsak) went ashore in the wake of our invasion. Will Britain continue to own and rule islands bought with American blood, vital to American defense?

"Kick 'Em in the Pants" Patton

LIEUTENANT GENERAL GEORGE S. PATTON, Jr., is apparently as irresponsible with his talk as he is with his fists and feet. General Patton nullified his military effectiveness in Sicily by slapping and it is said kicking a sick American soldier.

A few days ago he endangered his future military effectiveness by talking publicly and nonsensically about matters of world policy.

Before an audience of American soldiers in England, General Patton said:

"Undoubtedly it is our destiny to rule the world—Americans, British and, of course, Russians."

Then, as if to further and finally demonstrate his utter lack of understanding of the responsibilities and functions of a military commander, he said:

"The sooner our soldiers write home and say how lovely the English ladies are, the sooner American dames will get jealous and force the war to a successful conclusion."

General Patton is undoubtedly the "Slap 'Em in the Face" champion of the American armed forces.

When he physically assaulted a hospitalized soldier in Sicily, the excuse was offered for him that he was himself battle-weary—and his own display of penitence thereafter served to temper public indignation.

But now he has verbally assaulted the intelligence of the American people as a whole.

And he has even INSULTED American womanhood, as comprising "jealous dames" who contrast unfavorably with "lovely English ladies."

As for the reaction of American women, Representative Jessie Sumner of Illinois acidly and amply states the case by characterizing General Patton as "as barmy as Hitler."

And as for his "rule the world" complex, there is a wealth of adequate rejoinder.

"Let God rule the world, and we will be all right," said Chairman Sol Bloom of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives.

"I don't think our people are fighting to rule the world," said Senator Chandler of Kentucky.

"I thought we were destined to PUT DOWN aggression and establish a realistic peace with all our Allies in a common effort to keep the peace."

General Patton is credited with capable direction of mechanized warfare, which is his specialty, in North Africa. He also conducted the Sicilian operations with some credit.

But he stultified himself militarily with his bad temper and irresponsible and brutal mistreatment of a sick soldier.

And now that we are on the eve of a great invasion of Western Europe, in which mechanized warfare will predominate and in which his special knowledge might well have been utilized to advantage, he has again stultified himself with an even worse display of bad judgment and irresponsibility.

It is a grave question on whether a military leader so prone to bad temper and bad judgment can safely be entrusted with any vital military task involving the lives of American soldiers.

General Patton is certainly not an indispensable commander. He has only himself to blame if serious doubt now exists if he is a dependable commander.

The Legion Thinks Right

THE American Legion has built up a splendid reputation for right thinking on questions involving the safety and welfare of the United States.

In the matter of air traffic in the postwar world the American Legion is living up to its reputation.

Says the Legion's Executive Committee:

"The Legion is for full freedom of the air as it is for full freedom of the seas, for the United States, for its allies and for all other freedom-loving nations."

This may not evoke many cheers from the gentlemen in Britain who would deny America the right permanently to hold the Atlantic air bases which have been developed with American labor and money and defended with American arms.

But it will please and win the support of the vast majority of the American people.

Penicillin's New Cousin

VIVICILLIN, a close relative of the famed penicillin, has made its debut in British scientific circles. A statement issued at London's Wellhouse Hospital says:

"Penicillin is not available for use by civilian hospitals and medical practitioners, and it would appear that the chief value of vivicillin lies in its comparatively low cost of manufacture and ease of production in quantity, making it available to a large mass of the population so far unprovided for."

Here in America the latest report is that penicillin is being manufactured more cheaply and abundantly.

But there should be room for vivicillin, too.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The man who should rightly be the most harassed fellow in Washington, isn't. He is cool and collected at all times. He can sometimes sit for 10 minutes at a stretch without wanting to jump out of a window.

The imperious gentleman is Capt. Leland P. Lovette, the Navy's chief of public relations. And, no matter how much he gets praised, I don't think it's enough.

He has the hottest job in the capital—but the Navy is about to give him a rest. In order to relax his nerves he is to be sent out to the fighting zone as a skipper of a battleship. Moreover, he has been threatened that unless he is very careful they are going to make him a rear admiral.

"This job really has done wonders for me," he said. "I don't think anything can ever make me nervous again."

Capt. Lovette had a tough task when he took over the P. R. O. post a couple of months after Pearl Harbor, because people around the country were getting pretty perturbed at the way the Navy was withholding information—and garbling what little it did give out. He had to straighten the muddle and also convince the country that any news withholding was in the national interest.

FOR INSTANCE, he called on newspaper publishers all over the country. He told them, privately, the truth of the actual damage at Pearl Harbor, but said the real reason for keeping quiet was that, if the facts were made public, the Japs could then figure out how long it would take for the damaged ships to be repaired.

On the jaunt he made 42 speeches in 10 days—and lost his voice. His aide went to bed with a nervous breakdown after the trip, and when Capt. Lovette came to see him, asked plaintively:

"Where do I go to turn in my sailor suit?"

A lot of people, even some reporters, have an idea that all the Navy P. R. O. has to do is get out the daily communiqué. This is Lovette's most showy task, but the easiest. He has to handle newspapers, radio, movies, still photography, supervise speeches to be made by admirals, advise authors of books which touch on the Navy, and even supply ideas for books.

I took one of his typical days recently from his engagement book. This was it:

Conferred with Chief of Staff Admiral Ernest J. King (a daily job), in which they went over everything that had happened on the naval fighting fronts in the last 24 hours; then relayed an edited account to his section heads.

Then had personal interviews with a dozen people, including reporters, book and magazine writers, after which he met Maj.-Gen. Alexander Surles, who holds a similar job in the Army. Next came a meeting with Elmer Davis, of the Office of War Information.

Lovette had two lunches, one with a naval representative of one of the United Nations (who turned out to be unable to speak any English), and another with a high-pressure gent who wanted to promote himself by throwing a phoney testimonial dinner for an admiral.

He reviewed and edited two movie shorts in the afternoon, saw Adm. King again, saw reporters, some more, dictated more than 100 letters and signed same, and then had to go to three cocktail parties. (1) for Harold Butler, British minister of information, (2) for publicity and advertising men, (3) for MacNeice Foster, British air vice-marshal.

P. S. It just happened there were two British parties that day. Capt. Lovette also hosts with other nationalities.

He got home—how, I don't know—worked over a long review of Navy activities and went to bed. But the bed he went to was on a train—the midnight train for New York, where he had to meet Navy publicity men from all over the country at 8 a. m.

CAPT. LOVETTE is 46 and so tall he stoops automatically when going under anything, including the Capitol dome. But the nearest any one has seen him to blow up was on May 1 when his chief deputy, Comdr. Gordon Beecher, got sick. Late that night Beecher called from his sick bed to ask if anything was doing.

"Not a thing," shouted Lovette. "Not a single thing! It was a completely quiet day. All that happened was that one of our biggest ammunition depots blew up: a batch of WAVES were arrested and a motion was introduced in the Senate to impeach the secretary of the Navy."

A LADY, whom I suspect is a baker, called up today and said:

"This is the War Department. We are just putting out a flash bulletin. Campaign ribbons are being given out for the battle of Montgomery Ward. They were cut from the first bolt of cloth captured by a sergeant!"

I DON'T KNOW about the ribbons, but I feel I simply must write to Mr. Roosevelt, the new president of Montgomery Ward, and order a catalog. We live out in the country and the old catalog is about used up.

And the loved one's fate! This path—how soft to pace!

This May—what magic weather! Where is the loved one's fate!

—ROBERT BROWNING.

THIS reminds that today I met a young woman I hadn't seen for about a year. I said: "I hear you have been married." She said: "That's right. But here I am in the United States and my husband is in Australia. That's a strange way to be married." . . . Donald Laird, celebrated psychology professor, stated: "Never marry a girl who is the life of the party." Our Horses & Women Department in the interest of girls who are the life of the party, is checking on this statement. Is there any subscriber who married such a girl? How is she doing as a wife? . . . In any event, the number of 4-F classed men who are making good as football and baseball players reveals a man has to have something more than it takes to play these games to be a soldier. Yes, sir, it takes a 100 per cent all-around man to make the grade in the U. S. armed forces these days.

PASSING BY: Myrna Loy. She has the most interesting smile of the cinema queens. A kind of a Mona Lisa smile. A "she didn't say yes and she didn't say no" smile. It was Natacha Rambova (Mrs. Rudolph Valentino) who gave Myrna her first chance in the films. That was in 1925 . . . Lefty O'Doul. Cafe owner and baseball manager. Lefty first attracted the attention of major league scouts when he hit for 392 in Salt Lake City. An interesting thing about Salt Lake is that due to an atmospheric condition it is possible for a ballplayer to hit from 50 to 75 points better there than in other cities. Seem the ball travels faster in Salt Lake than in other places as it meets with less resistance in the atmosphere.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS:

Q—Every now and then you see a scene in a film showing a person reading in a bathtub. Are there really people who read in bathtubs? A—Certainly. My uncle Al read the racing form in the bathtub every night. Of course, the fact it annoyed my aunt to see my uncle reading the racing form at any time or place might have had something to do with it. . . . Q—If our next baby is a boy we would like to name him after you. Do you mind? A—I feel honored. But don't saddle him with the name of Edgar. Take my middle name, which is Vincent. . . . Q—To decide an argument in our outfit, what is the source of the title of Ernest Hemingway's book, "The Sun Also Rises"? A—It is from the Bible, Ecclesiastes, I believe.

ASIDES: Capt. Bill Hewitt, U. S. Marine Corps, puts himself very far out on a limb. He says he will answer any sports question I put to him. Till give him an easy one as a starter. Name the three horses which finished in a triple dead heat at Saratoga . . . Helen Weller, Boston newspaperwoman, says: "I have long been intrigued with the name Clancy McQuip. He is a reporter on the Chicago Herald-American."

TITLES: Note a reference to the fact Margaret Mitchell first titled her celebrated best seller "Tomorrow Is Another Day," and then changed it to "Gone With the Wind." An excellent change. Thackeray titled one of his novels "Pencil Sketches of English Society" and then changed it to "Vanity Fair." Philip Gibbs called a book "What the Censor Forbade" and on second thought changed it to "Now It Can Be Told." Whistler titled a brilliant piece of work "The Correspondence of James McNeill Whistler" and changed it to "The Gentle Art of Making Enemies." And Poe's poem "The Raven" was first titled "The Owl."

HOLLYWOOD, May 2—Universal is throwing the book at "Bowery to Broadway," or to be more polite, three top stars go into this musical—Maria Montez, Susanna Foster and Turhan Bey.

When "G" turned down M-G-M's offer to buy half of Turhan's contract, the studio promised him the breaks and they are living up to it. Maria Montez, by giving him Susie on one arm and Maria on the other.

Maria need weep no more about wearing beautiful clothes. The sarong is parked while she models 16 snazzy ensembles in her role as the Broadway musical comedy star. As for Susie, who will sing of course, the picture marks her debut as a rival of Dietrich's leg honors. And she's the girl who always refused to pose for "leg art" because it was beneath the dignity of a singer!

THE MANY and assorted rumors that James Cagney has signed with this or that studio are all denied by his brother, Bill, who says five stories are lined up to sign Jimmy for his independent company. Says Bill: "If we get an outside offer that is terrific, I won't say that Jimmy won't be interested. But we are committed to United Artists to turn over 'Bugles in the Afternoon,' an historical novel by Ernest Haycox. Then there is 'Blood on the Sun,' 'Only the Valiant,' 'Port Royal' and an untitled murder mystery. Also, we'll make 'The Stray Lamb,' the Thornton Smith comedy, without Jimmy. Altogether, these pictures represent an outlay of about $10,000,000." Busy little beavers, aren't they?

EDGAR BERGEN is getting so thoroughly into the spirit of naming Charlie McCarthy's new wooden girl friend, he is offering a War Bond to the one who names her. He tells me that after I mentioned in the column that he was looking for a name he was deluged with letters, telephone calls and telegrams. Some of the names offered were Salome Ann, Deborah, Beulah, Annabella, Arabella and Emily Ann, but I still like my choice of Cynthia Ann. Anyway, the lucky person will be given a war bond.

THE ELYSE KNOX-Tommy Harmon musicals are definitely postponed from a spring date to some time in September. There are certain religious steps Elyse must take before they can have a church marriage back in Ann Arbor, Michigan. Tommy's home town. Elyse has done so well in "A WAVE, A WAC and a Marine," that Eddie Sherman has signed her for two new Biltmore pictures to be made this year.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: The Sigmund Hindleys (she was Mary Dowell or "Stutterin' Sam") admit the stork is headed their way: Betty Grable, out for the first time since the arrival of Victoria, at the Clover Club with Larry James; it will be wedding bells for Gloria Dickson and Bill Fitzgerald any day; Ketti Fring's "God's Front Porch" will be translated into Braille for the blind, an unusual honor for even a best-selling novel; Charles Jackson's first writing job at M-G-M will be the adaptation on "Nor All Your Tears";

ATEMPTING TO "BEAT" the 30 per cent cabaret tax, "hippers" are making their appearances again in the nightclubs and hotel dining-rooms where dance music and entertainment are purveyed. "Hippers" is the trade-word for the sports who, in prohibition days, used to carry their own liquor with them when they went out to have fun. . . . It was to equalize the "hippers" and the spenders that the unlamented "corkage" charge was invented. . . . "Corkage" was the fee assessed by pre-repeal nightclubs for set-ups, and "setups" were ginger-ale or soda in a glass. . . . The prevailing "corkage" fee in most nightclubs of the super-class was from $1.00 up. . . . The old Stork Club, in 56th st. (New York) assessed the jellybeans who brought their own the sum of $5.00 per person (plus cover).

A BEACON STREET HOTEL is changing hands, for $350,000—$200,000 in cash above the first mortgage—if a verbal agreement made last Thursday finds final consummation in the passing of papers this week. . . . The purchasers are Bernard Snyder and Phil Margel, Mr. Snyder's father-in-law. . . . Bernard Snyder is a cousin of Ralph Snyder, boss of the Hotel Bradford. The Snyder family, counting in-laws, will own five Boston hotels if the deal is closed. . . . They also own plenty of theaters, here and in Rhode Island.

RESTAURANTS SUCH as Monte's, Lena's, Marie's, Freda's, the Red Coat Grill, the Grotto, Ada Bullock's, O Sole Mio are really coming into their own as the public demonstrates its will-power in shunning the glitter-spots where the 30 per cent tax prevails. . . . The Music Box became the first major cocktail lounge to dispense with singers in an effort to make it easier for the customers. . . . Paul Zara's trio and a piano-tune are furnishing music for the Music Box's circular bar, and the rush of business (when the word gets around) is expected to be great. . . . The public really seems to resent the 30 per cent tariff on nightclub-going, and observers conclude that a five-week test will prove no more than a four-week test did, namely, that the public really seems to resent the 30 per cent tariff on nightclub-going.

The Shangri-la is doing away with its show, and the Bradford Roof, at the conclusion of current contracts, is expected to follow suit. . . . The Shangri-la is doing away with its show, and the Bradford Roof, at the conclusion of current contracts, is expected to follow suit.

WHAT'S $40,000 A YEAR for a good dogtrack general manager? Doesn't he have to call the important elections right? Some of the dogtrack moguls only get $30,000 a year, anyway. . . . Why, a truly great editor can work himself up to that figure—if he can find someone to buy a winning newspaper for him. . . . And Vera-Ellen, the subtitle of "Connie is Not a Yankee," joins forces with Sam Goldwyn's studio next September at exactly $40,000 a year (with a 12-week vacation). . . . Pooh. . . . Let's talk about our kind of money. . . . A two-dollar bill on a festive his next time out should get you far. . . . And speaking of small money. . . .

"STIR UP THE FAVORITE" is this column's choice for the Kentucky Derby. . . . But our New England-bred "Lovesday" would beat any mare in the world right now. . . . And probably any horse as well. . . . A tall blonde, the lady-friend of a shrewd trainer, was ushered quietly off the Gansett track Monday. . . . "Ruled off," they say. . . . It may have been merely coincidental that the trainer had run a horse which went to the post a short-priced favorite, and ended out of the money.

NEW YORK, May 2—George Jessel and Rosemarie Ward are getting serious. She even laughs at his jokes the third time. . . . Candy Jones is suffering from arm pains. A studio light fell on her while she was posing for a fashion photo. . . . The Jack Oakies are adding a nursery to their mansion. They plan to adopt a baby. . . . Howard Hughes is deserting the glamor girls for his inventions. Currently he is toiling over a speed device for airplanes. . . . Noah Beery, the silent film star, has struck it rich. Mineral deposits have been discovered on his desert ranch in California. . . . Hannah Williams Dempsey's constant Chicago companion is Blaine Faber.

MARIAN CURTIS, the ex-Mrs. George Givot, will walk down the aisle with Hollywood Director Ralph Murphy in Mexico any day now. . . . A check on Philly's female street car conductors revealed just one big problem: How to get the male passengers to take their seats and stop cluttering up the front platform. . . . Albert Hoffman, former male of Mitz Mayfair, has given a huge engagement sparkler to Joyce Ripley, of his office staff. . . . Edward Johnson of the Met has purchased a ballet by Irina Baranova, based on the 350-year-old choreography of the ballet "Coppelia." For fall presentation.

MILTON BERLE'S sister, Rosalyn, is seriously ill at the Park West Hospital. . . . the Navy is recruiting more than 1000 WAVES a week for desk replacement duty. . . . the sponsor of one of radio's ace comedy teams is in a quandary. The duo's Cressley dropped sharply—but sales of the product increased 300 percent! . . . The Sardi set hears that Greer Garson will appear on Broadway next fall in a play by Samson Raphaelson. . . . Sergt. Jack Williams of "Winged Victory" and his wife, lovely Dorothy Bennett, will lullaby soon. She was recently part of the ensemble of "Early to Bed."

EXCERPT FROM a note to John Hoyt: "I miss Gertrude, oranges and soup." . . . a radio comic currently in Gotham has done everything but hit a cop to get publicity. The Rockefeller-turned him down when he wanted to skate on their rink wearing a bathing suit. . . . Race track officials will attempt to force jockeys to keep off Broadway and out of the late spots. . . . Imogene Coca, the Ruben Bleu mine, is heartbroken. Left all her music in a cab and has to do her act with ad libbed arrangement. . . . Walter Molnar, the new screen director—has the Warner boys all excited—is actually Walter Szuroy, husband of opera-radio-screen star Rose Stevens. . . . The current comebacks in show-business are amazing. Ted Lewis' asking price for Chicago night spots is $7500. . . . Stanley Richards and Jeanne Cagney are an item. He's written a play for her, too.

HOLLYWOOD, May 2—Lana Turner is walking down a long, circular stairway, and she is wearing a white lace form fitting dress. The scene is a Broadway night club in her picture, "Marriage Is a Private Affair," and as Lana enters a number of soldiers scattered about at the bar are supposed to give out with the wolf-call whistle.

Lana Turner

"No! No!" shouts Director Bob Leonard, "that's not it. It doesn't sound real." "Let's do it again," said Director Leonard, "and make it sound as if you use it." Lana enters again. "No! No!" shouts Director Leonard. "It still doesn't sound real. You know what the trouble is? I think you fellows are too used to seeing Lana Turner. Pretend if a some girl you haven't seen all day on the set. Let's try it."

Lana comes on again, and the soldiers give out with the wolf call as if it was some gal they had a chance of dating.

"Good," says Director Leonard. "Print it."

ACTORS AND ACTRESSES, no matter how important and glamorous they are, can walk about their studio and never be bothered or noticed. But let the same actor or actress visit another studio and they create a furor.

Gypsy Rose Lee, Randolph Scott and the entire company of "Belle of the Yukon" went on location at Universal this week—to use the standing Alaskan street set—and the presence of the visiting movie performers attracted plenty of attention, the office employees practically stopped working. Randy Scott didn't get those kind of glances when he was working in pictures at that studio.

A stenographer insisted on getting an introduction to Gypsy Rose Lee. "Oh, Miss Lee," she flattered, "my husband is such an admirer of yours. He says you have so much talent." Gypsy smiled, pleased. "Does he admire me as an actress or as an author?" she asked, to be pleasant.

"Oh, neither," replied the stenographer. "He likes you as a strip teaser. I wish I could undress like you."

"You're quite sure you're enjoying yourself?"

Wife Beater Fined

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
My wife and I have been married 18 months. We have no children, so I let her continue working after marriage. She's secretary to a big concern.

She got the meals and did the housekeeping. I did not help because I think it's the lady's place to keep house. I was born in a foreign country, where ladies don't have so much freedom as they have here, and though I am now an American citizen and obey the laws of this country, I still think the ladies have things too much their own way.

Once I slapped my wife and when I saw how mad it made her I pretended I did it only for fun. But last Saturday night when she objected to my coming home, as she said, drunk, though I wasn't, I did give her a good beating. She put her head out of the window and called "Police Police!" When the people in the apartment house rushed in she asked them to phone for police. I was locked up and fined. And when I got home my wife had taken all of her things and left me, and I don't know where she is now and would like to get her back.

EUDOLFO W. S.

I think your wife did exactly right and I only wish more American women had her spunk. In some states the wifebeater is beaten, with compound interest.

Assures Healthy Scalp

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

DOES YOUR HAIR LOOK DIFFERENT LATELY?
Take the word of a cosmetic salesgirl... a know-it-all of beauty aids... when her hair looks frowzy... she feels FROWZY. And, isn't it the truth. There's a magical feeling in having lovely hair.

Had a case of nerves lately? Has your hubby or brother or boy friend gone off to the wars... leaving you concerned... and, had that concern broken out in a swell case of the jitters... reducing your hair to listless, lifeless, faded strands?

Doctors say that a case of nerves sometimes affects the condition of the scalp... causing hair to fall out and fade... and suffer dandruff. Of course hair beauty is contingent upon scalp health. If your hair seems dry and brittle... so dull and drab... it needs special grooming. It needs the daily use of a hair lotion that will not only dress your locks... but cleanse the scalp and assist in a new growth of hair.

This daily hair lotion... product of a famous hair specialist... will not only impart new lustre to your hair... but cleanse scalp into a healthy condition through the invigorating ingredients of its formula. It will help to keep the scalp free of dandruff and immaculately clean... so clean that a new gloss will come to your hair.

MEN SHOULD USE IT

Men certainly should use it as a grooming aid instead of water... to keep their locks in place.

Throughout the week... a sister of a noted hair specialist... who for more than 40 years has been successfully treating scalp conditions of men and women... is in town to help personally with your hair problems. Visit with her for a reconditioning of your locks.

For the name of this daily hair lotion and where to meet and speak with the hair specialist, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

THESE ARE THE TRYING TIMES when your hair needs reconditioning... because of one reason or another... but whatever the cause develop a healthy well-groomed head of hair with a daily hair lotion... that is tops of its kind... for a sparkling crowning glory like M.G.-M. Starlet Jane Allyson's... fresh as the daisies on her dress.

Some Low-Point Meat Treats

MEALTIME MONOTONY is probably the least of the meal-planning pitfalls which today's home-maker must avoid. One of her biggest worries is planning meals that stretch points. Reading the point value chart from the bottom to the top is one way to

BAKED STUFFED CALVES' OR LAMBS' HEARTS

3 calves' or lambs' hearts
1/2 recipe parsley stuffing
Seasoned flour

1 tsp. fat or drippings
4 tbsp. fat of the cleaned hearts from which veins and arteries have been removed with parsley stuffing. Skewer and tie openings closed. Roll in seasoned flour, and brown in the hot fat in a skillet. Place in deep baking dish. Run skillet with hot water, and pour over hearts. Add enough more water to half cover the hearts. Then cover and bake in a moderate oven of 350 deg. F. for 2 hours. Serve, sliced, with a gravy made by thickening the stock, using 2 tbsp. flour and 3 tbsp. water mixed to a smooth paste, for every cupful stock. Makes 6 servings.

PARSLEY STUFFING

3 qts. lightly packed, day-old bread crumbs 1/2 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. powdered sage

2 tbsp. diced celery
2 tbsp. minced parsley
1/4 tsp. pepper
3/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup minced onion

Combine the bread crumbs, salt, sage, celery, parsley and pepper. Meanwhile, melt the butter in a large skillet, add the onion, and simmer until tender. Add the seasoned bread crumbs and heat well, stirring the crumbs constantly from the bottom.

SIMPLE AND GIRLISH

but very effective is this two-piece styled along peasant lines... featuring tubable Everlast black cotton blouse and a plaid gingham with black markings skirt... tied on with a black drawstring sash. Pink, yellow or green plaids make ideal color contrasts with lovely black for summer cottons... so cool and refreshing.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Monday—Speaking of short memories in a previous column made me want to give you an illustration of how short they really are!

I wonder how many of you read the following quotation from Mr. Eric Johnston's speech to the publishers and editors a few nights ago.

Mr. Johnston is president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He is a big man and a courageous one. He would mean to be truthful but his memory is short. Here is the quotation:

"As a people we Americans do not forget easily. But I would remind you that in the decade before the war we were fed a heavy diet of fear, fear of personal insecurity, fear of another depression, fear of business, fear even of ourselves. Life became just one damned fear after another. The defeatist and pessimist got us so busy fearing other things we forgot to fear that which really is important, and that is big government."

MR. JOHNSTON FORGETS TO MENTION the fear of corruption on a big scale, or inefficiency, or uncontrolled world situations, all of which were factors in putting fear in the hearts of people. These fears rose also in business when it was uncontrolled and unhelpt by a big enough government. This big fear engulfed us a little more than a decade ago.

WE MUST REMIND OURSELVES, however, that courage and hope have come to the great mass of people since 1933, and fear, which was in the hearts of nearly all the people has revived only to a limited extent in the hearts of those who fear not the disasters of 1929 and 1930, but the inability to repeat a part of the financial program of the 20's.

War has put fear in all our hearts for those we love who are in fighting zones, but it has intensified our self-confidence because of our pride in our fighting men and their achievements and the knowledge that as we reach each new crisis at home, the people have so far managed to meet it not only adequately, but magnificently.

Chinese Influence in Coats

By BETTINA BEDWELL

COATS to wear in summer have been taken from the Chinese.

The kimono sleeve, and the simple, streamline body of the Chinese coat is fine to wear over printed dresses, as you can see by looking at our sketch. This model comes from Alice Orvan, a talented designer with a Paris background. She makes it of very light black wool with deep, loose cuffs and vivid pink cuffs.

The printed crepe dress that is shown with the coat has medallions of pink and green for a design. It has very short cap sleeves and a high neckline with an open diamond-shaped cutout below.

SOCIETY'S FIRST May bride is pretty Priscilla Brett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Snow Brett of Otis pl. and Harwichport, who walks altarward this afternoon to exchange marriage vows with W. Randolph Sides, Jr., AUS, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sides of Wellesley Hills and West Falmouth.

Rev. Ashley Day Leavitt is marrying the couple in Harvard Congregational Church and a reception for the families follows at the bride's home. Given in marriage by her father she is wearing ivory satin with a fingertip veil attached to a Juliet cap of lace which her mother wore on her wedding day. Her bouquet combines Eucharist lilies and stephanotis. Janet Stevens, cousin of the bride and only attendant, is wearing powder blue taffeta with a coronet of blue and yellow flowers and bouquet of shaded yellow daisies.

Mrs. Brett has chosen a navy and white costume suit with a corsage of Eucharist lilies. Mrs. Sides is wearing navy and powder blue with white camellias.

John Sides is best man for his brother and the ushers are Harry P. Hood, Jr., James L. Bartlett, Jr., Lieut. Chester S. Brett, Jr., USNR, and John Rogers. After a brief honeymoon the couple will live in Raleigh, N. C., where the bridegroom is stationed.

The bride made her debut at The Country Club following her graduation from May School. She attended Wheaton and for the past two years has been a nurses' aide at Massachusetts General. Mr. Sides attended Bowdoin and is a member of Psi Epsilon.

MRS. GEORGE W. SMITH (Peggy Hangarter), socialite songstress and Powers model, is back home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hangarter of West Newton, after a long sojourn in the West with her air corps husband who is now overseas. Dining with her husband and daughter at the Oval Room the other night Mrs. Hangarter wore a

How to Step Up ENERGY

How This Energy-Charged Wonder Bread Can Give You All The Extra Energy You Want

Contains Vitamins of the B Complex and Iron Your Body Needs To Help Get All The Energy Out of It

As you know, energy comes only from the food you eat. Thus, to get more energy—eat more energy food. To get energy out of food, Nature must have the help of Vitamins B₁ and B₂ and Iron.

The two vitamins help to oxidize the food in the cells to get the energy out of it. The Iron in your blood acts to bring the oxygen to the cells. Study the chart. Then eat the extra number of slices of energy-charged Wonder Bread every day to get the extra amount of energy you want.

GET VITAMINS, IRON When you eat energy-charged Wonder Bread you know it contains Vitamins B₁ and B₂ and Iron which you know are necessary to help Nature transform it into energy properly. And only Wonder Bread is sold under $1,000 guarantee of continual tests of Vitamin B₁ content.

Only WONDER BREAD Makes This $1,000 Vitamin B₁ Guarantee Regular laboratory tests of typical loaves of Wonder White Bread show an average Vitamin B₁ content substantially in excess of the minimum requirements as recommended for bread by the Federal Food and Drug Administration. We'll pay $1,000 to any charitable organization named by the citizen of the United States first to disprove the above statement. Continental Baking Co., Inc.

DOUBLY FRESH In addition, energy-charged Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it, fresh when you eat it. Because Wonder Bread is sliced—15% longer than many ordinary kinds for lasting freshness. For extra energy, eat four slices of energy-charged Wonder Bread every day. Serve your husband and children extra Wonder Bread, too. Get Wonder Bread fresh from your grocer today. You'll be glad you did.

THIS CHART SHOWS YOU HOW MUCH MORE ENERGY EXTRA WONDER BREAD DAILY CAN GIVE YOU

YOU KNOW BILL DIDN'T VISIT LAST NIGHT! YES, I KNOW!

AND WHEN HE VISITS HE USUALLY GIVES ME A DIME!

SAY, WHAT ARE YOU DRIVING AT?

-I THINK IT'S ONLY FAIR FOR YOU TO MAKE GOOD MY LOSS!

Lucky Star

Take the last number of your year of birth, add 1 to it. If 9, subtract 8. If 8, subtract 7. If 1, add 1. In all other instances, use your own judgment. Then, use the top number of the first column of numbers, and the bottom number of the letters under your own number. These are your message for today.

OH! I'M SO HAPPY! PRINCESS ZAZA TOLD ME I'LL MARRY THE MAN I LOVE! THAT'S SWELL!

PLEASE GIVE PRINCESS ZAZA THIS BROOCH. IT WAS A GIFT FROM MY MOTHER.

NO! NO! YOU ALREADY GAVE PRINCESS ZAZA A SWELL PICKLE DISH-

BUT I WAS SO WORRIED! NOW I'M HAPPY! SURE, YOU'RE HAPPY! PRINCESS ZAZA SEZ A NICE PAST MEANS A NICE FUTURE.

I had a nightmare last night an' heard a bomb.

That wasn't a nightmare. Our furnace blew off the roof when we was out.

Saugus JVA Unit Leader Enters Service

Another Junior Victory Army boy has gone into service for Uncle Sam. He is Joseph Laura, Jr., of Saugus, commander of the "Famous 65th" Corps, sponsored by John Hanlon, and he has joined the Marines.

He has had to discontinue his paper "The Laurel" and his Globe Correspondence Club. His mother, Mrs. Marie C. Laura, writes to JVA headquarters that these articles are desired: Used and unused picture postcards, envelopes, stamps, buttons and book match covers and used fountain pens, knickknacks, minerals, foreign coins, cameras and magazines. They should be sent to Mrs. Laura at 48 Clifton ave., Saugus. New members are joining Corps No. 245, commanded by Dora Voynas of Peabody and captained by Joan Rain.

name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

Look for the next JVA story in Wednesday's Daily Record.

Ted Proves Self He-Man; Louis Tour Minus Gold

By AUSTEN LAKE

PRESENT ARMS!—A U. S. Navy Air Force blurb states, "Cadet Ted Williams, formerly of the Boston Red Sox, will receive his pilot's wings Tuesday, May 2." That's today!

Which means that the 25-year-old Theodore Samuel Williams, the eccentric slugging genius of the Sox whose adolescent nerve tantrums and Freudian nonsense used to give Joe Cronin stomach flutters and night sweats, has met and passed the most severe disciplinary ordeal known to wartime aviation.

As one who used to bop the kid for his many slap-happy diodes, let me salute his he-man masculinity now. For he didn't get those golden wings for the magnificence of his personality, his level chin and his sun-tanned cheek.

There are no pampered pets in the Navy air force. He got 'em because in final test, he had the pluck, character and adaptability to meet the soul-searching trials of male hardihood and intelligence, the lack of which has washed out thousands of his contemporaries. It demonstrates that, underneath his old, junior externals, the kid always had the pure, raw, basic stuff. Stout feller!

MISSION MINUS REWARD—Staff Sergeant Joe Barrow Louis and his dusky entourage are making a fistie journey to Europe that was originally scheduled six years ago in the cash-hush times when he was a pure financial suggest from the top of his kinky crown to the tips of his french roll toes. He's doing it without reward now, under auspices of the army morale division. But time was, just after he belted Jim Braddock lower from his title and paralyzed Max Schmeling in their second collision, that he was guaranteed $500,000 for a three month swing through the button biffing centers of the old world. Jeff Dickson, the Connecticut Yankee who prosecuted sports affairs at the Palais de Glace in Paris, (since killed), who sponsored the pilgrimage, which was finally turned down as too exhausting and too risky for the pay involved. Joe is doing it now for a sergeant's income of about $30 a month—and no quibble about risk or exhaustion.

Dog Track Puzzle

WAGES OF WHAT?—The little band of Boston moralizers who 10 years ago predicted sin and corruption if the weasel-bellied greyhounds were allowed to race in our sacred parishes will be sacrificed to learn that the combined operations of Wonderland, Taunton and Massasoit dog tracks have scooped up $24,031,456.21 for their nine year share. This compares with $17,807,868.88 soaked up by the horse tracks, Suffolk Downs and the long defunct Agawam plant at Springfield. It is curious to note too, that although the dogmen have gleaned $6,223,988.73 more than their horse counterparts, the pooch operators have paid the state $241,360.40 less over a nine year interim, or the difference between $10,858,490.72 and $10,617,130.32. This despite the fact that dog tracks operate at considerable smaller cost in personnel, salaries, overhead and taxation and hence have considerably more left for their net cash balance. Yet the dogmen continue to scalp 35 per cent off the top in comparison to the horsemen's 10 per cent, a margin which originally was granted because the framers of the 1934 paramutual bill expected the murt-manipulators to limp along on a small volume of business. Instead of that, during nine years their total intake at the windows has been $210,308,622 as compared with the horse plants' $245,163,956. What d'ye make of that, Watson?

PERFECTION'S PEAK—In line up a starting eleven.

his recent article in the "Research Quarterly." Prof. Harvey C. Lehman of Ohio State compares the birth-dates of 1666 major league pitchers and finds that they are, on the average, keener and most capable at 27. Of 3126 major leaguers in other positions he places their pinnacle at 28. Fighters, he says, are best at 26, pro-footballers at 25, pro hockey players at 27.5, tennis players at 27.5, golfers at 31. Which means that, by war's end, the great athletes of our little age will have passed beyond their prime. Yet somewhere in this broad land there are lads—possibly in line pants, possibly in army mustard or navy blue, who will rise to become the muscular marvels of another little age. For, whether in war or peace, there is the noise of following footfalls behind the heels of the current horde of heroes and on their necks are the hot breath of youth that will best them. It may be your grocer's boy or your ashman's son.

Two Minute Horse Race

LEGALIZED LARCENY—An amiable form of lunacy is brewing in lazy Louisville this week—the annual dementia called the Kentucky Derby. It is a week-long carnival when the imporing horde forgets that it is squandering hard money and lets go in a selfless scow which stands unrivalled in the National itch to be where sport's big moment occurs. Here is a focal point in the American horse scene where folk come, not so much to worship the elasticity of God's noblest beast, as to gape, goggle and gawk at each other. The excuse is Saturday's two-minute horse race in which few see more than a fleeting glimpse of the little cricket men as they flit past with their colored silks bubbling in the backdraft. Yet, despite the depredations of the Louisville banditti, who make a year's profit in a few days, the Derby is a pictorial American institution. Long may it wave! As a nation we have always been pleasantly susceptible to legalized pocket picking.

Boudreau Called For Draft Exam

CLEVELAND, May 2 (AP)—Boudreau, 26-year-old manager and shortstop of the Cleveland Indians, reported today he had been called for his preinduction physical examination tomorrow by the Harvey, Ill., draft board.

Boudreau, beginning his third season as pilot of the Indians, has been in 1-A for several weeks. He is married and the father of two children.

Ex-Brove Niggeling Faces Sox at Fens

By BILL GRIMES

Instead of bouncing around the National and American Leagues for the past six years, Johnny Niggeling, who will be on the mound for the Senators against the Red Sox this afternoon at Fenway Park, might have been a fixture with the Braves, who had him in 1938, if there had been a receiver on Bob Quinn's pay roll that season, who could catch and would call for knuckle balls.

Niggeling was with the Braves the first year that Casey Stengel managed the club. He came up from the Yankee chain, having pitched for Kansas City and Newark the previous season.

Veteran pitchers were plentiful on the Braves' roster that year. Jim Turner and Lou Fette, who had won 20 games each, more than one-half of the total number of Boston victories. Guy Bush, Danny MacFayden and Milt Shoffner had had years of experience and all had been more successful than Niggeling.

BEATEN BY REDS

Johnny Niggeling received his first real tryout with the Braves in an exhibition game against the Cincinnati Reds in Tampa. He was given a shelling by the McKechnien. Niggeling's failure to make a showing against the Reds was a surprise and a dis-foot hasn't responded to treatment, Manager Joe will be obliged to make another 11th hour change, as was the case yesterday when he shifted to Yank Terry after announcing that Vic Johnson would pitch.

Tom McBride may break into the Red Sox starting lineup today as a first sacker. George Methovich has been in a batting slump all season and Cronin realizes that if his club is going to win a few games, it must get some hitting.

McBride took over for Methovich yesterday and connected with three clean hits in as many trips to the plate. "Mac" isn't exactly a Fancy Dan around the initial sack but he'll be a welcome addition to the regulars if he hits, even one kind as well as he did in the opening Red Sox-Washington game.

appointment to everyone, for Johnny had been effective pitching batting practice at Bradenton.

Some weeks later, it was learned that the reason that Niggeling had been hammered so hard at Tampa was because Al Lopez, who caught him that afternoon, wanted no part of any knuckle balls and therefore didn't call for Johnny's ace pitch. A week or 10 days after he had been given that going over at Tampa, Niggeling, with Ray Mueller, who was trying to prevent Johnny Riddle from taking his job doing the catching, pitched five scoreless innings against the New York Yankees. Then, he gave up only four hits in seven innings against Louisville, with Mueller behind the plate. Just before the Braves broke camp, Niggeling finished up a game with Brooklyn. Al Lopez was doing the receiving and Johnny lost his control, walked two men and yielded a run when Pete Coscarart singled. But he pulled himself together and the Braves won by a margin of one run.

Johnny Niggeling never started another game for the Braves, after his fine showing against Louisville at Arcadia, Fla. But, he came back and became one of the best knuckle ball pitchers.

PREDICTS PENNANT

Owner Clark Griffith of the Senators thinks so well of Niggeling as a knuckle ball artist that he predicts that the deals which brought Johnny from St. Louis to Washington and Roger Wolfe from the Athletics, gave the Nats the call on the 1944 American League pennant.

Manager Joe Cronin plans to toss George "Pinky" Woods against the Senators this afternoon. However, Woods pulled up lame yesterday, chancing files, and if his

Stir Up Heavy Favorite To Win $75,000 Derby

By JACK CONWAY

IF YOU LIKE to play a long shot to beat an odds on choice, you will have your opportunity on Saturday when Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree Stable sends Stir Up to the post in the Kentucky Derby. It is a certainty that Stir Up will be as heavy a favorite as Brevity or Bimelech. Brevity was beaten by Bold Venture, while Gallahadion proved too much horse for Col. Edward R. Bradley's Bimelech.

Whirlaway and Count Fleet were among the Derby winners who came or to win despite the fact they had been installed heavy favorites.

Stir Up has shown brilliant form, and it would take much courage to pick against him. The fact it will be a race for 3-year-olds with the horses carrying equal weight also gives Stir Up a better chance to win.

It is not expected that there will be more than eight to ten horses in the Derby. Calumet Farm is likely to have an entry of Twilight, a filly, and Pensive. I saw Pensive race in Florida and he did not look very impressive. He was not ready for the races at that time, and has shown better form at Pimlico. Pensive, however, has not come up to the hopes of his owner, Warren Wright.

Other probable starters are Sky Tacer, winner of the Blue Grass; Challenge Me who showed so brilliantly winning the Arkansas Derby after being picked by Bill McAuley; Erlanger's Stable Shut Up; A. A. Baroni's Autocrat; Alver, owned by A. C. Ernest; Dave Ferguson's colt Bell Buzz; Brief Sign from the River Divide farm; Mrs. A. J. Abel's Surprise, winner of the classic $25,000 Chesapeake Stakes; Gramp's Image; Mrs. George Poulsen's Broadcloth and the Hawaiian colt Kope Kope. A. A. Baroni's Autocrat will have some backing in New England. Baroni brought little Top Row here to win the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap and the $25,000 Narragansett Special. Baroni always supervises the training of his own horses. He is sure to have Autocrat in condition. Challenge Me raced well at Hot Springs. Bill McAuley was one of the first of the handicappers to predict that Challenge Me would win many top stakes.

Warren Wright

Large Derby Crowd

The ODT has banned special traits for the Derby, while persons are supposed not to go to Louisville by train just to see the race. Perhaps this is why a number of corporations have located their home offices in Louisville. It is probably more than a coincidence that corporation meetings are always held on Derby week.

Despite the restrictions on transportation racers will get to the Derby much like they do to the other tracks that are in operation. There will be the usual gay, colorful parties the night before the Derby, at which mint juleps will be the chief drink. As many as 30,000 mint juleps at $1 each have been sold on a Derby day.

Record Betting Expected

WITH THE PUBLIC plentifully supplied with fresh betting money, new mutual marks are expected. In New York $3,000,000 betting days are becoming common, and it is believed that the mark for Derby day at Louisville will top $2,000,000.

As in former years, betting booths will open in the morning, while the first race of a long program will get under way at noon. There will be the usual array of bands in the infield and, in keeping with the wartime spirit, a military touch to the infield parades.

The chief band will play "My Old Kentucky Home" when the fine field of thoroughbreds come out on the track for the $75,000 Derby. Stir Up will carry thousands of dollars on his aristocratic nose. If you can figure out some horse that can beat Stir Up, you will not have to worry about money for your next income tax payment.

Wilson Quits As Cubs Pilot

CHICAGO, May 2 (AP)—Jimmy Wilson threw in the sponge as manager of the Chicago Cubs.

The 43-year-old leader, whose salary was reported to be $20,000 annually, resigned during a conference which Phil K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, had called to learn what could be done to end the plight of the team. The Cubs won their opening game of the season, then lost nine straight.

No immediate announcement was forthcoming from Wrigley concerning Wilson's successor. Meanwhile, Roy Johnson, a veteran coach with the Cub organization, will assume charge.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

Braintree Seen in Title Fight

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Baseball fans on the South Shore have just regained their breaths after watching Braintree High School pummel classy Milton in its opening game of the season. Now, they're just waiting to shout it from the rooftops that Coach Harold "Bud" Hawkes' nine will be a logical candidate for a berth in the Eastern State Championships.

Braintree travels to Abington today in quest of its second of 14 potential triumphs in one of the features of the schoolboy diamond program. A duplication of its efforts against Milton would be a grand start on the road to the play-offs in the big league ball parks. And, according to Coach Hawkes, that isn't a lengthy stretch of the imagination for this 1944 edition of the Braintree team is potentially as strong as either of his other state title nominees. It's just a matter of whether or not the boys continue to play the same heads-up baseball as in the opener.

CAN BLOW GAMES

"Lead-off man Bob Prior caught hold of one of Goodwin's fast pitches, lined it right back through the box for a hit and it seems that we never let up on Milton after that," declared Coach Hawkes. "But kids can blow ball games so easily, it's pretty hard to say just where we'll wind up."

Prior will be one of six veterans in the starting line-up for Braintree throughout the season. Patrolling centerfield, he'll play an important part in Coach Hawkes' "down the middle" strength, which follows right through the pitcher's box. Jack Larsen will be behind the plate, Bob Lang, a right-hander, will be the first string pitcher. Hugh Opie will be at short and

Sam Scott, clean-up hitter, will complete the run at second base.

The double play combination of Opie and Scott will double up as pitchers with Lang filling in at either second or short whenever either of his team-mates takes over the mound. Opie is a smart control pitcher while Scott, winner of four games on the hill last year, relies on power to mow down the opposition.

Dick Wetherbee, at third base, will give Coach Hawkes his list of six veterans, filling out the infield, with Bill Gorman at first base. Other starters in the outfield will be Clark Cameron and George Cardarople, both newcomers to the squad.

After the Abington game today, Braintree will face Quincy at home Friday; at Hingham, 9; Thayer Academy, 12; Weymouth, 16; Abington, 19; at Quincy, 22; at Milton, 26; at North Quincy, 31; Hingham, June 2; at Weymouth, 6; and North Quincy, 9.

There'll be plenty of action on the schoolboy front tomorrow afternoon with a full sized schedule topped off by the clash between Boston English and Norwood . . . co-champions of the Greater Boston circuit, Medford and Somerville, will be meeting . . . Winthrop will be facing arch rival Revere

. . . and B.C. High will tangle with Mechanic Arts.

Tobin May Repeat Against Bums Today

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Jim (No Hits, No Nuthin') Tobin takes a hitless streak of 13-2-3 innings into Brooklyn today as he makes his bid for a double no-hitter in the same ball park where Johnny Vander Meer did the trick six years ago.

Since Tobie turned back the Dodgers without a bingle last Thursday he has hurled one perfect relief inning in Philadelphia and Lippy Leo Durocher of the Brooks has been bounced out of one ball game and fined $100 in addition to suffering the indignity of a 26-9 pasting from the Giants.

There may not be any connection between Leo's tilts with the umpires and the goose eggs his Dodgers laid in Boston, but fans of the nation look for some novel twists in today's duel between Tobin and the Brooklyn club. The Durocher clan is expected to bust and scramble for anything resembling a base knock with high hopes of a rousing afternoon. Tobin is saying nothing but letting that record do the talking.

The entire National League enjoyed an open day yesterday before shifting around for the season today but a modern batting record was tied by George Myatt of Washington in one of the two games played in the American.

Myatt collected six hits in six at bats as Washington mauled Boston, 11-4, to gain a piece of a mark held jointly by 23 modern players, two of whom, Jim Bottomley and Roger Cramer, had done it twice. Uncle Wilbert Robinson still holds the all-time record for one game of seven hits for seven with Baltimore in 1892.

Roger Wolff had an easy time of it behind the Senators' 20-hit out-batter and found time to chime in with three singles in addition to scattering 11 Red Sox safeties.

Jimmy Grant, a Chicago White Sox castoff, made his old manager live to regret it by haunting his old mates with a game-winning double in Cleveland's 9-3 victory. Grant's second two-bagger of the day came with the bases loaded in the 7-run Cleveland eighth.

Six-Rounders On Title Card

Sal Bartolo, featherweight champion of the world, confined his training yesterday to five miles of road work and because he finished at the title limit of 126 pounds his trainer, Freddy Brown, decided to call it a day.

Bartolo is here training for his title defense against Phil Teranova, who was stripped of the crown by Bartolo. They clash Friday night in a 15-round bout at the Boston Garden.

Rip Valenti, matchmaker of the Goodwin Club, which is staging the match, announced a pair of six rounders yesterday for the supporting card. In these, Ralph Reagan of Medford will meet Carl Schultz of Hartford, Ct., and Steve Kronis of South End faces Paul Powell of Providence.

4 Berths Open To Leahy

CHICAGO, May 2 (AP)—Midwest football coaches and fans speculated today on the next grid coaching job for Frank Leahy, for the past three years director of athletics at Notre Dame, and the consensus was that he may wind up at the Iowa Naval Preflight school this fall.

But there are at least four other naval bases without their 1944 coaches and Leahy may go to any of them—if he goes as a coach at all.

Leahy's order when he was sworn in as a lieutenant in the U. S. Naval Reserve yesterday was to report to Princeton University on May 25 for a 60-day indoctrination course.

Many of the big name coaches—including Don Faurot, who went from Missouri to succeed Minnesota's Bernie Bierman as football mentor of the Iowa Seahawks last year—went through the Princeton indoctrination course.

Leahy's order when he was stationed at the Monmouth, Ill. College Flight Preparatory School and there is a possibility he may be called back to direct the Seahawks again this fall.

If Leahy receives a post in the Navy athletic setup, he could conceivably find his way to the St. Mary's, Cal. Preflight School, or the Sampson, N. Y., Bainbridge, Md., or San Diego, Cal. naval station. The head grid coaches at these bases for 1944 have not been named.

Ohio State League Opens Gates Tonight

COLUMBUS, O., May 2 (AP)—Minor league baseball, which saw 32 of its 43 circuits disband after the start of World War II, will get a new "shot in the arm" tonight when the first of those 32 leagues resumes operations.

A half dozen Ohio cities, ranging in population from 30,000 to 70,000, have banded together to reorganize the Ohio State League, a Class D organization.

They're Off—Twenty infants go to the post in the first annual baby walker race at Palisades Park, N. J., in a unique contest open to youngsters just beginning to walk. Here they go . . . "racing" down a 100-foot course, each in a walker or kiddy car. Patricia Flynn, 17 months, won . . . in six minutes flat.

Prize Winner—One of two Pulitzer prizes awarded for news photography went to Earle L. Bunker of the Omaha World Herald for this photo of Lieut.-Col. Robert Moore being greeted by his wife and children after an absence of 16 months.
